Cantiere del Pardo brings three new models at the Cannes Yachting Festival. The presentation includes the Pardo 43 walkaround yacht, VanDutch 75 day cruiser, and Grand Soleil Plus 80 Performance sailing yacht.

Pardo 43

The Pardo 43 represents an evolution of the previous model, with over 300 units sold since its introduction. Company President Gigi Servidati stated: "This new version is not about revolution, but evolution - continuing to refine and improve a model that has already made history." The design maintains the walkaround configuration while updating various elements.

VanDutch 75

The VanDutch 75 measures 22.9 meters and introduces updated styling to the brand's existing design language. The model retains the low-profile silhouette and clean geometry characteristic of VanDutch yachts while incorporating new technical details and Mediterranean design influences.

The sailing yacht measures 24.4 meters and offers performance-oriented features alongside customizable interior layouts. The first unit has been sold and is currently under construction.

Grand Soleil Plus 80 Performance

Cantiere del Pardo currently has four yachts in production across its Plus series: two Grand Soleil Plus 80 models (one Long Cruise and one Performance), one GS Plus 72 Performance, and one GS Plus 65 Long Cruise. Delivery schedules indicate spring 2026 for the first GS Plus 80 LC and late 2026 for the GS Plus 80 Performance.

The company maintains production facilities in Italy supporting both motor yacht and sailing yacht construction. With over 5,000 yachts built since its establishment, Cantiere del Pardo operates through a network of 60 countries worldwide. The Cannes presentation demonstrates the company’s continued investment across its three brand portfolios.
