These six new models cover the boating spectrum, from walkarounds to superyachts.

BOAT-SHOW ATTENDEES often stop our staff on the docks and ask, "What's the best boat to get?" And the answer we give is always the same: It's the one that gets you on the water. ¶ That said, there are six boatbuilders in the following pages that have brand-new designs, and they are ready to help clients find the boat that gets them on the water next. ¶ Your passion might be long-range summer cruising with the family to exotic ports of call. It might be ripping off to the local sandbar at light speed for a day trip on a Sunday afternoon. Either way, there's a boat for the mission at hand. ¶ And when it comes to features such as foldout decks, beach clubs, glass-walled spas, inboards, outboards, custom furnishings and fore-deck lounges, they're all available and a whole lot more.

The Pardo Endurance 72 is the new flagship of the series, which also includes a 60-footer.

Pardo Endurance 72 / Go Long

The Pardo Endurance 72 has a warped hull form that's designed to work with Volvo Penta IPS propulsion. There are two engine options: IPS1050 or IPS1350 diesels. With the 1350s, the builder reports a maximum cruising range of 900 nautical miles at 12 knots, making the Endurance 72 a fit for those who have a desire to visit far-flung waypoints. Belowdecks, there are four staterooms, including a full-beam owner's space aft and a VIP amidships with an athwartships berth. Two twin-berth guest staterooms are forward. The yacht's modern interior has satin-finish gray walnut, which is found in the soles, ceiling panels and more.
